National Speaker Here.

Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingston of the National W. C. T. U. Superintendent of Franchise, head of the largest organization of women in America, visited Gettysburg this week and spoke in St. James Chapel on Wednesday evening to a small audience that should have been many times larger. Gettysburg has been fortunate in hearing prominent speakers and Mrs. Livingston ranks with the most talented speakers in the country. Her address was brilliant and convincing. She drew home the conclusion that the only way to succeed in the fight the W. C. T. U. has made against intemperance and other wrongs is by giving the ballot to women. In every State where women have the ballot the environment has been made cleaner and better. In a most emphatic way she declared that the W. C. T. U. and the liquor interests agreed upon one matter, and that was that the ballot in the hands of women would drive liquor out of communities, that was the reason the temperance advocates were fighting so hard for the ballot, and that was why the liquor interests were doing their utmost to prevent women from getting the ballot. The fight of the anti-suffragists so small it was not worth while to bother about, the real fight with money and power back of it was being made by the liquor interests. When the men understood this fact they would certainly give their wives, mothers and sisters equal franchise, so that they might win in their fight. The few men present were so impressed with Mrs. Livingston's message that they are trying to make arrangements for her return to address a large audience.

Earns His Plum.

A plum in the shape of the position of county superintendent of roads in Adams county has fallen into the hands of our fellow townsman Wm. B. Flemming, giving him a kind of surprise, a very pleasant one however.

One day recently he was at work on the Chambersburg pike repairs, carrying out orders and without any warning a big machine made its appearance. His chief at Harrisburg stepped out the machine and immediately began to kick his foot into the ne. ly made road and scrape it with his foot and after he had gone through it at several places places with Mr. Flemming anxiously awaiting results, the inspector stopped and he said to Mr. Flemming something about it being one of the few pieces of work made according to orders. He asked Mr. Flemming whether he could put some one in his place. That being done they got into the big auto and visited all the roads where work was going on or was to go on and at the end of the day when they parted Mr. Flemming's chief asked him whether he would take the position of county superintendent. Mr. Flemming did not lose consciousness but they do say that he forgot to ask anything about the salary. There are many who warmly support the proposition that the best piece of new road made out of the old York pike was done under the supervision of Mr. Flemming.

The State Highway Department announced a new system the other day by dismissing 80 general foremen, with salaries of $85 a month, and expenses of $15 and their work will be done by the county superintendent it is said at a big saving.

Auto runabouts are being purchased by the department for the use of the county superintendent and it is expected that each superintendent will do the work of the general foremen. Ten runabouts have been purchased to test this plan. They are equipped with the wagonette body which gives room to carry tools in the rear. It is claimed that traveling expenses, where teams have been hired will more than pay for the runabouts at cost of $265 a piece and pay for their operation and give increased efficiency to the working force. These autos will be marked "Pennsylvania State Highway Department."

Work started on the Emmitsburg road this week. Thirty men in charge of Levi Pitzer are at work to improve the condition of this very bad road. The start was made near the middle of the bad stretch and they are working both ways, grading and filling, removing breakers, and crowning up the road. The resurfacing will not likely be done this year but the road will be put in much better shape and attract many visitors because improved.

American Steel Fence Post

Cheaper than wood and more durable
Galvanized inside and outside

Don't Use Dead Trees

When you put a wood post in the ground, you defy the laws of nature.

She has decreed that all animal and vegetable matter must perish as soon as life is extinct. The minute you place a wood post in the ground, you defy this law.

You put it there for the purpose of lasting, but on the contrary, decay begins at once, and each year the post is weaker and of less value. You can follow Nature's guidance by using the AMERICAN STEEL FENCE POST. She says minerals are not to perish. We merely follow this law and transform a mineral, namely, iron ore, into the form of a steel post. When this goes into the ground, Nature preserves it.

Each post is really a lightning rod carrying the electricity from the air. This fact also aids in preventing corrosion and explains why posts have been in the ground fifteen years without rusting. This quality of the post also protects your stock from lightning. Steel posts will not burn, so you can clear your fence line each year, getting rid of vermin and weed seed which destroy crops.

In ordinary soil, steel posts can be driven, saving valuable time and also money. There are dozens of reasons why this post is a farm economy. We will be pleased to explain further the merits of this post and give you prices.

SECOND NOTE TO GERMANY

PRESIDENT WILSON FIRM IN HIS DEMAND AS SET OUT IN

First Note, United States Contending for High and Sacred Rights of Humanity Violated by Germany.

"The Secretary of State ad interim to the American Ambassador at Berlin:

"Department of State
Washington, June 9, 1915
"American Ambassador, Berlin:
"You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs:

"In compliance with Your Excellency's request, I did not fail to transmit to my Government immediately upon their receipt your note of May 28 in reply to my note of May 15, and your supplementary note of June 1, setting forth the conclusions so far as reached by the Imperial German Government concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Guilford. I am now instructed by my Government to communicate the following in reply:

WILL GIVE GERMANY FACTS.

"The Government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the Imperial German Government, in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Guilford, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships and the frank willingness of the Imperial German Government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships 'which have not been guilty of any hostile act' by German aircraft or vessels of war is satisfactorily established; and the Government of the United States will in due course lay before the Imperial German Government as it requests full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

"With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba, by which an American citizen lost his life, the Government of the United States is surprised to find the Imperial German Government contending that an effort on the part of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect of the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel has ceased her attempt to escape when torpedoed.

"These are not new circumstances. They have been in the minds of statesmen and of international jurists throughout the development of naval warfare, and the Government of the United States does not understand that they have ever been held to alter the principles of humanity upon which it has insisted. Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers or crew.

QUESTION OF THE LUSITANIA.

"The Government of the United States, however, does not understand that the Imperial German Government is seeking in this case to relieve itself of liability, but only intends to set forth the circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to allow himself to be hurried into the course which he took.

"Your Excellency's note, in discussing the loss of American lives resulting from the sinking of the steamship Lusitania, adverts at some length to certain information which the Imperial German Government has received with regard to the character and outfit of that vessel, and your Excellency expresses the fear that this information may not have been brought to the attention of the Government of the United States.

"It is stated in the note that the Lusitania was undoubtedly equipped with masked guns, supplied with trained gunners and special ammunition, transporting troops from Canada, carrying a cargo not permitted under the laws of the United States to a vessel also carrying passengers and serving in virtual effect, as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain. Fortunately, these are matters concerning which the Government of the United States is in a position to give the Imperial German Government official information.

MISINFORMED AS TO FACTS

"Of the facts alleged in Your Excellency's note, if true, the Government of the United States would have been bound to take official cognizance in performing its recognized duty as a neutral power and in enforcing its national laws. It was its duty to see to it that the Lusitania was not armed for offensive action, that she was not serving as a transport, that she did not carry a cargo prohibited by the statutes of the United States, and that if, in fact, she was a naval vessel of Great Britain, she should not receive clearance as a merchantman, and it performed that duty and enforced its statutes with scrupulous vigilance through its regularly constituted officials.

"It is able, therefore, to assure the Imperial German Government that it has been misinformed. If the Imperial German Government should deem itself to be in possession of convincing evidence that the officials of the Government of the United States did not perform these duties with thoroughness the Government of the United States sincerely hopes that it will submit that evidence for consideration.

"Whatever may be the contentions of the Imperial German Government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, it need only be said that, in the view of this Government, these contentions are irrelevant to the question of the legality of the methods used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel.

PRINCIPLES OF HUMANITY FIRST.

"But the sinking of passenger ships involves principles of humanity which throw into the background any special circumstances of detail that may be thought to affect the case. Principles which lift it, as the Imperial German Government will no doubt be quick to recognize and acknowledge out of the class of ordinary subjects of diplomatic discussion or of international controversy. Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, the principal fact is that a great steamer, primarily and chiefly a conveyance for passengers and carrying more than a thousand souls who had no part or lot in the conduct of the war, was torpedoed and sunk without so much as a challenge or a warning, and that men, women and children were sent to their death in circumstances unparalleled in modern warfare.

"The fact that more than 100 American citizens were among those who perished made it the duty of the Government of the United States to speak of these things, and once more, with solemn emphasis, to call the attention of the Imperial German Government to the grave responsibility which the Government of the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests.

"The Government of the United States is contending for something much greater than mere rights of property or privileges of commerce. It is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity, which every Government honors itself in respecting, and which no Government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority.

SUBMARINE NOT JUSTIFIED.

Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to stop when ordered to do so for the purpose of visit could have afforded the commander of the submarine any justification for so much as putting the lives of those on board the ship in jeopardy. This principle the Government of the United States understands the explicit instructions issued on August 3, 1914, by the Imperial German Admiralty to its commanders at sea to have recognized and embodied as do the naval codes of all other nations, and upon it every traveler and seaman had a right to depend. It is upon this principle of humanity as well as upon the law founded upon this principle that the United States must stand.

"The Government of the United States is happy to observe that Your Excellency's note closes with the intimation that the Imperial German Government is willing, now as before, to accept the good offices of the United States in an attempt to come to an understanding with the Government of Great Britain by which the character and conditions of the war upon the sea may be changed. The Government of the United States would consider it a privilege thus to serve its friends and the world.

"It stands ready at any time to convey to either Government any intimation or suggestion the other may be willing to have it convey and cordially invites the Imperial German Government to make use of its services in this way at its convenience. The whole world is concerned in anything that may bring about even a partial accommodation of interests or in any way mitigate the terrors of the present distressing conflict.

EXPECTS JUSTICE FROM GERMANY.

"In the meantime, whatever arrangement may happily be made between the parties to the war, and whatever may be in the opinion of the Imperial German Government have been the provocation or the circumstances of its commanders at sea, the Government of the United States confidently looks to see the justice and humanity of the Government of Germany vindicated in all cases where Americans have been wronged or their rights as neutrals invaded.

"The Government of the United States, therefore, very earnestly and very solemnly renews the representations of its note transmitted to the Imperial German Government on the 15th of May, and relies in these representations upon the principles of humanity, the universally recognized understandings of international law and the ancient friendship of the German nation.

"The Government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights either of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality. It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights.

"It understands it, also, to accept as established beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag.

"The Government of the United States therefore deems it reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will adopt the measures necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done.

ROBERT LANSING.
"Secretary of State ad interim."

Picnic Drinking Water.

The picnic season has begun. Every alluring spot for miles around in the vicinity of the towns and cities will be the Mecca for pleasure seekers from now until the frost comes.

Almost everybody during a picnic sometime during the season. Now that the automobile has made even the remote districts readily accessible for city dwellers, the number of urban residents who seek an occasional days relaxation in the country, has tremendously increased.

Nobody thinks of going on a picnic without taking a generous supply of food but few people are far sighted enough to carry their drinking water. Some spring, brook, or farmer's well they feel will be sure to supply this essential. As a result of this indiscriminate dependence upon, unfamiliar sources of water supply, there are hundreds of pleasure seekers who contract typhoid fever every season.

That period of the year when typhoid fever is always most prevalent is that at the end and immediately following the vacation season. While this is not alone the result of picnics they unquestionably play an important part in this annual toll of illness and death.

It is not a difficult matter if one is taking an auto trip to carry a supply of drinking water from a source that is known to be uncontaminated. Moderate priced vacuum bottles or other forms of containers can be secured which will keep the water cool.

If a local water supply with which one is unfamiliar must be used boiling the water for twenty minutes will make it safe. Unfortunately clear water is by no means always pure water. Many a sparkling, crystal clear, roadside spring is open to pollution and no matter how attractive the little brooklet which bubbles along under the overhanging trees may appear, one must needs follow it to its source to be certain that it is free from contamination. So for safety's sake carry your drinking water in the picnic basket—Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health.

Paper Balloons Prohibited by Law.

Advocates of a safe-and-sane Fourth have always urged that the proper way to observe the well known anniversary of the nation's birth is to take five or six or a dozen paper balloons into the backyard and have a few ascensions, but after January 1 next the paper balloon will be taboo in Pennsylvania.

An act of assembly approved by Gov. Brumbaugh May 6 and being No. 153 of the signed laws of the last session of the legislature positively forbids any person to have paper balloons in his or her possession for any purpose whatever after the date mentioned. Violations of this law means a fine of not exceeding $200 and imprisonment for 60 days.

For a long time there has been complaint that the balloons sent up by thousands each Fourth of July are responsible for many disastrous fires. Cotton soaked with alcohol or other inflammable liquid is the means of inflation and when the floaters alight with the alcohol still burning there is a fire if anything burnable comes in contact with the blaze.

SHAKE IT OFF.

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens. A Gettysburg Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens. Burdens of a bad back are heavy. Get rid of them.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad kidneys. For lame, weak and aching backs. Local endorsement proves their worth.

Mrs. C. Culp, 423 Washington St., Gettysburg, says: "One of the family had an attack of kidney complaint after the measles and was left with very weak kidneys. He also had backache and pains in his sides and whenever he lifted, he was in distress. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended and he gave them a trial. I never thought a medicine could give relief so quickly. We recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone who is afflicted with kidney complaint."

Trolley to McConellsburg.

Work has been started in real earnest in the building of the Fort Loudon and McConellsburg Electric Railway Co. and the trolley line seems to be almost an actual fact now.

The line does not take the turnpike from Fort Loudon to Fulton county's capital town but takes off to the side, rather between the Loudon and the Mercersburg turnpikes, a lower grade than either pike, we are told.

A steam blow outfit arrived on Thursday at Fort Loudon ready to rip up the earth for the roadbed. Twenty carts and as many horses had already landed at the same place and 25 foreigners are in camp there, while more workmen are coming.

Feats of Archery.

In the days when the buffalo was found in vast herds on the western plains there were Indians who while riding at a gallop could send an arrow through a buffalo's body. Remarkable as this archery was, it did not equal that reached by the archers of ancient times.

It is of record that the MacRaes of Gairloch, Scotland, were such skilled archers that they could hit a man at the distance of 500 yards. In 1794 the Turkish ambassador at London shot an arrow in a field near that capital 415 yards against the wind. The secretary of the ambassador, on hearing the expressions of surprise from the English gentlemen present, said the sultan had shot 500 yards. This was the greatest performance of modern days, but a pillar standing on a plain near Constantinople recorded shots ranging up to 800 yards. Sir Robert Ainslie, British ambassador to the sublime port, records that in 1798 he was present when the sultan shot an arrow 972 yards.

Cult of the Cow.

In "Sra," a medley of the east, Sir George Birdwood has a note on the minute ritual, instinctive in the race of Brahminical Hindus, observed in regard to cattle, especially cows:

"You must not step over a rope to which a calf is tied and must always approach and pass a cow on your right hand, and keep your right arm covered the whole time you are in the cow shippers. You must never ride a cow nor interrupt her while suckling her calf nor in any way annoy her. Shortly after the railway between Poona and Bombay was opened, a cow having to be sent by a Hindu in the former city to another in the latter, its entrainment for the journey was telegraphed by the sender to the receiver in the equivalent of these terms: 'Her holiness just booked by the — a. m. train to Ercula (a suburb of Bombay). Please be at the station at — p. m. to receive her holiness.'"

Anxious to Please.

The colored population in a little Alabama town was having a race meet at the local fair grounds. An aged negro whose shoes were slashed to give his gnarly toe joints air sat in a seat on the grand stand. Immediately in front of him stood a large, excited damsel who had a whole dollar wagered on the favorite in the free for all trot.

As the horses turned into the home stretch the woman jumped up in the air, coming down squarely with all her weight on the infirm extremities of the old man. A groan escaped him, and she turned and begged his pardon.

"Uncle Zach, I's awfully sorry!" she said.

"Dat's all right, honey," answered the old man gallantly. "I only hopes mah feet ain't too corrugated 'fo' yoah pleasure."—Saturday Evening Post.

Regeneration.

Starfish will grow new arms, lobsters new claws and lizards new tails. A new lizard will not indeed spring from a new tail or a new lobster from a discarded claw, but a new starfish will grow from a detached arm. In the vegetable kingdom, as a writer in Knowledge remarks, this phenomenon is still more common and has been put by man to practical use. Although identical in principle, the growing of a plant from a cutting may not seem so astonishing as the growing of a new starfish, but growing not one but many plants from a leaf seems almost as extraordinary. Among the many plants that can thus be propagated is the begonia, and every housewife knows a geranium plant can be grown from a leaf stalk.

Treatment of a Dog.

A dog is a pet, a friend and a helper. The confidence of a dog, once lost, is hard to regain.

In teaching tricks always reward the dog with some dainty when he manages the trick properly.

A dog can be so trained that he will watch a cat eat without attempting to touch the food himself.

When you go into a yard and a dog growls as he comes to meet you speak kindly, act as though you were not afraid of him and he will regard you rather as a friend than as an enemy.—Detroit Free Press.

Information Sought.

The bookkeeper approached his employer diffidently.

"Seven years ago, sir," he began, "you engaged me on a week's trial."

"Well, what of it?"

"May I presume now that my position is permanent?" — Philadelphia Ledger.

The Resemblance.

"How?"

"Coming home from the club in seven reels."—New York Sun.

Fool Question.

Green—So an express train killed your foreman? Did it run over him?

Grump—No. It hit him on the elbow, and he died of hydrophobia!—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Perfection.

"How are the springs on this car?"

"Simply wonderful! You don't notice a child, and even when you run over a grown man, it's no discomfort at all!"—Life.

Censors.

Censors were originally Roman magistrates, vested with the power of controlling the manners, morals and duties of the people.

Patching Battleships.

After a battle Jack tars have several methods of stopping the incoming water when a battleship has been hit below the water line. For instance, if a small hole has been made in the vessel's side an apparatus like an umbrella is used. This is thrust through the hole point first and then drawn back so that it will open like an umbrella, leaving the canvas outside.

Of course the pressure of the water effectively forces the canvas against the ship's side, thus stopping the leak. But to make it more secure the handle of the umbrella, which is formed like a screw, is fastened by a nut inside.

In the case of a bigger leak—when the ship has been stove in below the water line—a large mat made of canvas and oakum is used. This has to be fixed into position by means of ropes. But the fixing is not a very easy matter, as one rope has to be got right under the keel to the other side of the ship in order to drag the mat down to the hole. Two or three other ropes are also required at different angles to guide the mat to its right position.—Pearson's.

The Submarine.

There is little glorious about the service of the submarine. She is the sneak of war's bloodthirstiness, creeping upon her victim like a murderer in the dark. For her there is no defiant battleflag, no glint of sun on wave, no thrilling roar of battle. She worms her slimy way through the murk to kill or be killed in the horribly practical business of slaughter. Her seamen toil amid mere machines. For the scent of burning powder she supplies the reek of gasoline. Her crashing broadside is but the hacking cough of compressed air. And her end comes not with mastheaded ensign, but upside down, with her people tangled in the gear. And this is the service which takes the strongest, the bravest, the dauntless. There can be no trepidation in the spirit which guides the submarine twisting through the depths, where, if she cannot be seen, she cannot see and where death lurks everywhere.—Hartford Times.

The First Doctor.

The oldest physician whose existence was known practiced at the court of a Pharaoh of the fifth dynasty about 6,000 years ago. His popularity with his master had apparently been great, for the Pharaoh had given an order that he should be supplied with slabs of stone for his tomb similar to those he was having prepared for himself. His private life had evidently been less happy, for in every case the name of his wife had been erased. Splinters found in the Nubian deserts were similar in principle to those of the present day, and the knots used to keep them in place were reef knots, the same as those now taught to students. The bandaging, as today, was done so that the folds crossed at right angles, with a view to their being kept in place. Palm fiber was used to serve the function of cotton wool and a fine linen to take the place of gauze.

His One Luxury.

A wealthy London dandy was noted for always wearing a costly flower in his buttonhole. Then he lost all his money and in time became shabby, but still every day he wore a fresh and expensive bouquet. Curiosity prompted one of his old time friends to ferret out the reason, and he discovered that in the man's prosperous days he found it "a bit of a fog" to pay for his flower every day, and so, in a very lavish mood, he struck a bargain with the florist that for a lump sum down—and it was not a small one—he was to be supplied with a fresh bouquet of his own choice every day for five years. The result was that, although sometimes he had not enough ready cash for a crust of bread, he was always able to claim his flower and to sport "a poppy or a lily" as he walked down the Strand.—London Answers.

Simple Nail File.

One of the nicest nail files you can get is a bit of whetstone, say one and one-half inches long. Try different stones and select the one whose texture best suits the texture of your nails. By using it frequently you can eliminate the cutting of the nails. It leaves a beautiful smooth edge on the nail, is quicker and easier to use than a steel file and never produces any of those unpleasant sensations that so often attend the use of a steel nail file.—Farm Life.

WHY not give your lad
the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ. April 28, 1911.

One of the features of the racing matinee of the Great Conewago Trotting Association on last Saturday was the lowering of the track record from 2:00 to 1:56 1-2 by Lawrence Brothers' Grover C. of Littlestown, in Class C.

The Hunterstown track is 1,000 feet less than a mile and the races were of that length. The speed shown was very good and only one of the classes was won in straight heats.

The officials for the race were Charles Griest, York Springs starter; John Shultz, Gettysburg, timer; W. D. Taughinbaugh, judge. The association gave away $30 in premiums in the various events.

Veterans' Reunion.

The Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry Society held their 46th annual reunion in Gettysburg last week with 47 members in attendance. They met at City Hotel, visited the battlefield and report having a good time while here. They will meet next year at Stewartstown. At the business session on Thursday the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, John T. English, Prospect, Ky.; Vice Presidents, Adam Fraley, Wilkes-Barre; Jacob Kissinger, Gratz; A. M. Parker, Mapleton Depot; Secretary, A. F. Schenck, Lancaster; Treasurer, H. W. Heffner, Surgeon, Dr. Wm. Rice, Rome; Chaplain, I. D. Landis, Stewartstown; Executive Chairman, J. Harvey Anderson, Stewartstown; S. C. Liggit, Stewartstown; Crull M. Hays, Newberrytown; H. W. Heffner, York; Geo. W. Thomas, Hanover.

With Thanks of the Editor.

The editor has been most kindly remembered with a fine box of Adams county apples from O. C. Rice of Biglerville, a basket of all the early vegetables from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Zinzand, east of town, a big box of large Ox-heart cherries from Squire S. S. W. Hammers, and several boxes of mammoth strawberries from Mr. and Mrs. John Starner, on York pike. Adams county certainly excels in the excellence of her products and the editor returns his sincere thanks to the givers.

Plead Guilty and Sentenced.

Lizzie Peters of New Oxford, was sent to jail for six months and fined $25 by the York County Court on last Monday on a plea of guilty to entering the office of Dr. C. H. Venus in York on May 5 last, and stealing a lot of morphine tablets, a gold necklace and other jewelry. The value of the articles stolen was $21. The defendant admitted that she was a user of morphine. The theft occurred while the occupants of the Venus home were absent.

"MASON AND DIXON LINE."

Western Maryland Railroad Adopts New Name.

Through the addition of "Mason and Dixon Line" to its title, the Western Maryland Railway Company will henceforth be linked with an important historical event, which, more than 150 years ago, resulted in permanently fixing the boundary between Maryland and Pennsylvania, and ending the dispute relative to the line.

The decision to perpetuate the name of the two eminent surveyors and the great work which they accomplished in Colonial days was announced yesterday by General Passenger Agent Charles F. Stewart, although the matter has been under consideration by him for several weeks. In the future the title of the road will be "the Western Maryland Railway Company—the Mason and Dixon Line," and will so appear on the printed matter of the system.

The railroad had two reasons for adopting the new name. In the first place, it operates, for the most part, in Maryland and Pennsylvania, the two States through which the line extends, and, in the second place, the road crosses and recrosses the line surveyed at several points in both States.

"No other railroad has adopted this name," said General Passenger Agent Stewart yesterday, "and we thought that inasmuch as we are so closely linked with the two States in which the survey was mostly made we could rightly lay claim to the name of 'the Mason and Dixon Line.' We had in mind the commemoration of an engineering feat accomplished during the closing years of our history as colonies and just before the United States of America came into existence. The Western Maryland crosses the boundary line near Blue Ridge Summit, again near Cumberland, at Lineboro, at Highfield and in the neighborhood of Pen-Mar.

"Nearly 100 years before the Western Maryland was ever thought of as a railroad the two surveyors, Mason and Dixon, known all over England on account of their engineering ability, came to this country for the purpose of running an east and west line through the wilds of the eastern portion of the country. They were brought here by Lord Baltimore and Thomas and Richard Penn. of London. They began their labors in 1763, and in 1765 had pushed their way to the Susquehanna River, when they received instructions to go forward through the forests of Maryland and Pennsylvania. In 1766 they were on the summit of the Little Allegheny Mountains.

"About this time the Indians began to give the surveyors trouble. They questioned the right of the two men to intrude in the wilderness inhabited by them and assumed a threatening attitude. It thus became necessary to carry on negotiations with the six Indian nations, and these negotiations being concluded the surveyors and members of their party resumed operations the following year. As the work progressed the red men again began to harass the surveyors, and so violent in their opposition to the whites did they become that 26 members of the party quit work and returned home.

"The two surveyors now having only a handful of men, continued their labors, undismayed by the difficulties which they encountered from the Indians, but they sent back to Fort Cumberland for aid.

"At last they reached a point 244 miles from the Delaware River and within 36 miles of the entire distance to be run. At this juncture the surveyors were informed by representatives from the six nations of Indians that the survey must be abandoned.

"There was no alternative and Messrs. Mason and Dixon withdrew only to have their work completed in later years by other engineers."

This movement of the Western Maryland Railway has a special interest in the fact that seven brothers bearing the name of McClean helped Mason and Dixon to run their line.

ARENDTSTOWN.

Owing to the frequent showers the last four or five weeks all vegetation is growing nicely and the prospect is for a fair crop of wheat and hay. We notice some wheat fields on Dr. Wm. E. Wolff's farm and the McDannell Bros., and Mrs. D. G. Minter's farm tenanted by Rufus Diehl that come up to the standard.

David Lawver reports new potatoes as large as geese eggs. Mrs. Aaron Freed reports having cooked new potatoes and green peas last week and Mrs. Melvin Warren new cabbage.

Our fruit growers are busy picking and shipping their early cherries to the Philadelphia market. The crop is much better than was expected 2 months ago.

The pears and quinces will not be a full crop owing to the trees being so badly fire blighted and we also notice some apple trees similarly affected.

Last Saturday A. J. Miller and his wife attended the funeral of Harry Chromister, their brother-in-law, at Hampton.

The funeral of David Leister held last Monday morning was largely attended by his relatives and many friends. In his death this community loses one of its best citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nary of Philadelphia spent several days here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Nary, the former's parents.

Ellis Kremer, Jr., was the recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Culp.

Allen J. Carbaugh, our baker, has just had his house newly painted.

The prospect is for a large crop of raspberries.

C. E. Convention.

The annual Christian Endeavor Convention of the Adams County Union was held in East Berlin last week, the first session being on Tuesday evening and adjournment on Thursday.

The officers of last year were re-elected. They are as follows: President, C. C. Culp, Gettysburg; Corsponding Secretary, Ethel K. Sheely, New Oxford; Recording Secretary, Bertha A. Heiges, Biglerville; Treasurer, Alma A. Henry, Orrtanna; Junior Superintendent, Edna Bauer, New Oxford. District Presidents were chosen as follows: First District, D. M. Hoffman, Biglerville; Second, C. Laurin March, Abbottstown; Third, Miss Anna Mountfort, Gettysburg; Fourth, Roy Bream, Fairfield; Fifth, J. D. Gulden, Hunters Run, and Sixth, Miss Rose Barker, Littlestown.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Biglerville, was selected as the place of next year's meeting.

It was decided to run an excursion to the state convention in Harrisburg next September, and it is the aim to have about 200 delegates from Adams county present.

An Advisory Board to be composed of all the pastors in the county and presidents of societies, was appointed to assist the executive committee in its work.

The annual county picnic will be held at Round Top, Gettysburg, in the latter part of July and plans in connection with this affair will be set in motion at once.

Reports of committees showed that three Young People's Societies and four Junior Societies were organized in the last year, while another society was reorganized and is doing encouraging work.

Farm Bureau Proposed.

A recent law authorizes the counties to maintain a farm bureau to give advice and instruction to farmers where it is desired and requested and counties are authorized to appropriate for the work a sum not exceeding $500. Experts are sent from State College.

On Tuesday Chester J. Tyson, P. C. Sowers, and Daniel Hoffman, representing the Adams County Fruit Growers Association, and J. L. Butt, Esq., as a farmer in behalf of others in the same occupation, appeared before the County Commissioners and urged an annual appropriation of $500 toward the establishment of a farm bureau in Adams county and it was stated that such a bureau would receive from other farm organizations and farmers financial help so as to assure the success of such a bureau. The Commissioners took the proposition under consideration and will announce their decision later.

Visiting Knights of Columbus.

About 400 Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, members of Arch Bishop Ryan Council of Philadelphia, were recent Gettysburg visitors arriving on Saturday and returning on Sunday evening. On Saturday evening at Xavier Hall a reception was tendered the Knights. Hon. William McSherry presiding. Address of Welcome, the Rev. Fr. W. F. Boyle, music, "Habanera" from "Carmen," Miss Mary Ramer; reply to welcome, John Loughren; "Because," Charles W. Stock; sketch, "Country Lanes and City Pavements," Misses Zita and Grace Ramer; impromptu speeches by Hon. M. J. Ryan, Lieut. John K. Target, U. S. N., N. J. McEnery, Fr. Dalton and Hon. William McSherry; music, Indian club drill, by physical culture class of St. Francis Xavier School; music.

The battlefield was visited Saturday and Sunday and a special mass was celebrated Sunday morning in St. Francis Xavier Church by Rev. Fr. Dalton of Philadelphia.

New Teacher Elected.

On Thursday evening the Gettysburg School Directors elected Miss Janet Myers of Marion, Franklin county, an assistant teacher in the Domestic Science Department. Miss Myers has been teaching in schools of Hollidaysburg for several years and is at present taking special work at the Chicago University. For the first four years the directors are required to increase the work in this department in order to secure the allotted appropriation and this most successful department will enter upon its third year with the opening of school, which was fixed for Monday, August 30.

Escapes Unhurt.

Wm. Zinzand of the W. M. yard crew had a narrow escape last Saturday. A coal car was shifted into the Blocher coal yard switch. The brakes failed to hold it and the car crashed into bumping block, wrecking car and switch. Mr. Zinzand jumped a distance of 12 feet and escaped unhurt when he saw the collision was unavoidable.
